The Class of Writing for Engineering:
A pathway to be professional

The reflection of this class is very important to me. Because, as a student of engineering, I have learned many vital things to be a professional in writing. Such as: Resume, Cover Letter, Interview Report, Lab Report, Group proposal, and Technical Description.

I have learned, how to develop each segment with the access of online library, the proper usage of APA style. I think, the experience of group work and how to build a drafting knowledge are also important in this course. In addition, I have learned researching in many legit sources and use of technologies in my writings. Finally, I got proper guideline for writing for engineering by reading my textbook.

I believe, the course objectives, the syllabus, the duration of the course, and the way of teaching by the professor (Mr. B) were perfect for me. I am sure that, this was short course, but it will reflect on my entire life and will help me to be a successful Computer Engineer.
